

Coach dashboard pages

There is always a little AI in the corner armed with the docs, ready to help out on any page. Also, community link should be in top right. Also, if in setup, or even if not in setup, there should be a little unintrusive thing that guides them to the next TODO. Just as an easy navigator for them.

➤ Home

- [Setup takes priority slot unless completed]
- Snapshots with Action Items- Components

➤ Income

- Earnings Breakdown [Primary Component with Income Graph]
 - Boost Earnings ____% (Carousel?: Invest, 500% return, etc.) - Button links to Income [Advanced] page
 - This is where coaches can pay an upfront fee for a higher percentage of GMV until they reach 5x their investment.
 - Framed as an investment in their community
 - Shows how many people they need for money back and how much to get __ amount of money
 - Different tiers with different multipliers
 - Explain why we do this.. Investing in your community and Ozza.
 - Why its good for you: Your money goes to Web App improvements. You also can make more money as share, we do this because we want to grow and it allows you guys to become investors in the platform, and us as a team can help eachother. If you really believe in your community and the Ozza team's ability to keep wowing agencies and expanding in this time of rapid innovation, this is a win-win scenario.
 - Take more $$ from Ozza
 - Why its good for Ozza: Funds are used to boost the platform's performance, and expand team to develop more features and a better product
 - Constantly adapting
 - Listening to customers wants/needs and improving the platform
 - Staying current with the changes in the ai agency community, and adapting to add value
 - Products
 - Where coaches can upsell customers with templates or something else etc... (Maybe out of scope for MVP)
 - Community Analytics [Component links to Analytics & Insight]
 - Mostly presented as tied to income

- Community permits growth which boosts income
 - Pitches the idea of adding more resources to grow community, putting in more effort to engage with their community is a positive for the bottom line
